

IN VICTORY OR DEFEAT

Let's not forget that there is much to be done hereabouts this spring. More work for our citizens, more houses for those we have. There should be less politics and more honest effort for the good of all. Picturesque Portsmouth should not remain buried in ice, mud and rubbish. Let's dig out and clean up. It is time to wake up. The need of more Navy Yard work is more important to Portsmouth than anything else just now.

ADMIRAL SIMS DIVULGES MORE WAR SECRETS

Mentions Many Tilts With Department

(By Associated Press)
Washington, March 11.—Indications that the Navy Department with held sending all available American naval craft to European waters early in the war, because of a desire to keep the main body of the nation's sea strength intact for possible contingencies were contained in Admiral Sims' testimony today before the Senate committee investigating the naval conduct of the war. He read a cablegram from the Navy Department dated July tenth, 1917, containing an outline of the department's policy and declaring that "while a successful termination of the present war must always be the first Allied aim and will probably result in diminished tension throughout the world, the position of the United States must in no way be jeopardized by any disintegration of our main fighting fleet. Even as late as January 1918 he was still calling for more destroyers, Admiral Sims said, and that time he declared his prediction that the Allies would lose the war unless the United States gave more complete naval cooperation were being justified by results and the Navy Department was beginning to carry out his recommendations of six and eight months before. On April 23rd, August 24 and September 19, 1918, Admiral Sims said he wrote the Department expressing his disappointment in the apparent non-success of the destroyer building program in the United States and urging the necessity of "speeding up" production of anti-submarine craft and sending every available small vessel to the war zone even at the expense of protection of the coast of the United States. "I am only introducing testimony so far along in 1918 at this time to bring out the accumulative effects of not having thrown our full weight into the war at the beginning," the Admiral said. "The situation is so serious and the consequences of failure so terrible that I went beyond the channels which the navy afforded me and enlisted the services of such men as Ambassador Page.

The Captain of the "Gang" Was 10 Years Old.

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., March 11.—In the arrest of 10 young boys the police believe today that they have the perpetrators of more than 30 robberies in this city in the last few weeks. The boys with their ten year old "Captain" were taken into custody on the charge of stealing articles from an automobile. The arrest according to the police threw light on the robbery of a jewelry store of $1500 dollars worth of goods, burglary of a 6 & 10-cent store, thefts of overcoats from office buildings, snatching of purses from women, and the smashing of store windows.

(By Associated Press)

ANOTHER BOND ISSUE WOULD BE SERIOUS

Secretary Houston Points Out Dangers and Opposes Issue

(By Associated Press)
Washington, March 11.—A bond issue of $2,600,000,000 to pay adjusted compensation to former service men might result in disaster, Secretary of the Treasury Houston today told the House Ways and Means Committee which is considering soldier relief legislation, increased taxes to extend aid to former service men was suggested by the Secretary as "the least harmful way" but he said the proposed expenditure of two billion dollars "would be serious for the people to confront at this time." "The present financial situation is not critical," Mr. Houston said, "because by the people avoidance of waste in expenditures, economical appropriations by Congress and prudence in handling these appropriations will naturally relieve the situation." An attempt to sell bonds and place other paper on the market at existing rates of interest would be difficult, he said. "I do not know if we could float bonds at a higher rate of interest," he told the committee. "If such bonds were floated it would tend to decrease values of present obligations." Further credit expansion which has been a factor in the upward trend of living costs would be inevitable of another bond issue were approved, he said. "We are doing what we can by prudence to bring about normal conditions of affairs but I cannot predict when we will return to the pre-war state," said Mr. Houston. "The proposal to float additional bonds would set up grave questions which I am not sure we could handle."

HOOVER WILL TESTIFY IN NAVY PROBE

Washington, March 11.—Herbert Hoover will be called to testify in the Senate investigation of the Navy's conduct of the war. Rear Admiral Sims told the inquiry's committee that Mr. Hoover had an infinite knowledge of the situation in Europe at the time America entered the war and asked that he be summoned to substantiate the Admiral's testimony with regard to the gravity of the Allies position at the time. "The Allies indeed barely escaped a peace without victory," said the Admiral.

ROSE PASTOR STOKES GRANTED NEW TRIAL

Circuit Court Bases Finding on Judge's Charge.

St. Louis, Mo., March 10.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today reversed the verdict by which Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes, wealthy New York Socialist, was convicted in Kansas City in June, 1918, of violating the Espionage act, and remanded the case for a new trial. Mrs. Stokes was sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment. The reversal was based solely on the charge given to the jury by Federal Judge A. S. Van Valkenburgh, who presided at the trial, and which was declared prejudicial to the defendant. Mrs. Stokes was indicted on charges that she wrote a communication to a Kansas City newspaper, denouncing the Government as being "for the profiteers."

The opinion stated that Judge Van Valkenburgh's instruction reviewed at length the German atrocities and the United States' forced entrance into the war by them, but apparently failed to encompass the defendant's explanation of her attack on the Government. "The charge contained in several places," asserted the opinion, "a rich and inspiring exhibition of patriotism, and of the nobility of our aims in the war, which could hardly have failed to increase the commendable patriotic feeling which was already alive in the heart of every jurymen."

USE OF WATERWAYS BY MANUFACTURERS

This Is Plan to Check High Freight Rates.

Springfield, March 10.—W. H. Chandler, traffic manager of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, in an address before three hundred members of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce yesterday advocated that the manufacturers of New England utilize the waterways of the six states to better advantage in order to keep a check on soaring railroad transportation rates. He said the problem of rate adjustment was a more serious issue to the New England manufacturer just now than the transportation difficulties.

He declared the railroads are now planning to receive an income of six per cent net the coming year, and in order to do this they must raise the freight and passenger rates, already oppressively high. He said the New England manufacturer would be unable to compete with the Westerner under such rates, but the utilization of the waterways would probably induce the railroads to reconsider their plan.

The speaker said the roads have failed to do all they could for New England residents. He declared that farmers have had to slaughter their cattle because of the fact the railroads did not get sufficient grain through to feed them. He said the corporations have been counting public sympathy by waiting about their needs. He said the railroads need the manufacturers' help, but that they must also cooperate.

Washington, March 10.—The nomination of Bainbridge Colby of New York to be secretary of State again has been held up by the foreign relations committee, under circumstances that have aroused intense interest, and have led to sensational reports that reflect upon Mr. Colby's activities during the war.

It is understood that he furnished the committee with confidential records from the intelligence office and also the names of other witnesses whom the committee is to call before taking final action on the nomination.

Great secrecy was maintained about the nature of the evidence taken, but it has led to rumors that Mr. Colby's nomination may not be confirmed.

INCOME FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW

In these days of high rentals and excessive cost of maintenance and upkeep, both landlords and tenants are inquiring as to their allowable deductions in the filing of an income tax return.

When property is held for renting purposes the owner may deduct the cost of securing tenants, such as commissions to real estate agents, advertising, etc and the expense of maintenance, such as ordinary repairs, lights, fuel, janitor service and insurance. If the owner occupies part of the building as his dwelling, the expenses must be apportioned, and only those relating to the part which is rented may be deducted.

A tenant may deduct the rent paid for business premises, but not his home which is a personal or living expense.

Taxes paid by a tenant to or for a landlord for business property are additional rent and are deductible by the tenant. Such taxes represent income that may be claimed by him also, as a deduction. The cost of erecting buildings or permanent improvements on ground leased by a taxpayer is additional rental and therefore deductible from gross income, provided such buildings and improvements revert to the owner of the ground at the expiration of the lease. In such cases the cost of the improvement may be depreciated over the term of the lease, so that a proportionate amount will be deducted in each year of the tenancy. Having deducted the cost of such buildings as rental, the tenant is not allowed deduction for depreciation but the cost of ordinary repairs necessary to their maintenance and upkeep is an allowable item.

When at the expiration of such lease such property reverts to the owner of the land its value is considered taxable income to the landlord for the year in which received.

Under this heading of "Depreciation," owners are permitted the deduction of a reasonable amount for the exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence. This deduction must be made as a separate item of the return and must be explained by showing separately each class of property, its cost or value at the date of purchase (on or before March 1, 1913, if acquired on or before that date), estimated life, depreciation charged for the taxable year and total depreciation charged for all taxable years. It is allowed the amount claimed for depreciation must be charged off the books of the taxpayer either by deducting it directly from the book value of the assets or crediting it to a depreciation reserve fund so that it will be reflected in the annual balance sheet.

Depreciation must be claimed on all business property, which includes not only buildings but machinery of a permanent character, automobiles, farm tractors, mine and mill equipment, office furniture and books. The rates at which depreciation is allowed are not fixed by the law or regulations and are determined by the circumstances governing each particular case. The ordinary method is by determining the useful life of the property and dividing its cost by the number of years it will be usable in the business in which employed.

Deductions for depreciation are limited strictly to property used in the taxpayer's trade or business. No such allowances are made for automobiles or other vehicles used chiefly for pleasure, the taxpayer's dwelling, nor the furnishings therein, personal effects or clothing. Property or clothing used exclusively in a theatrical business, however, may be the subject of depreciation allowance.

Intangible property, the use of which in trade or business is definitely limited in duration, may be made the subject of depreciation allowance. Examples are patents, copyrights, licenses, and franchises. Intangibles, the use of which is not so limited, will not usually be the proper subject of such an allowance.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion, dark rings under your eyes, pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for cathartics, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 40c and 25c.

CANADA TO HAVE A NAVY

Ottawa, Can., March 10.—Canada should have for the protection of her ports a fleet of naval vessels of three light cruisers, a fleet tender, twelve torpedo craft, eight submarines, and a parent ship. This was the recommendation of Vice Admiral Jellicoe of England, in his report to Parliament on the Canadian naval needs. He recommended the appointment of a naval board similar to the present military board, and a minister in the cabinet whose sole duty would be the navy. His suggestions were made ranging from a program of $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 and he emphasized the need of an ordnance.

The Duty of Legislators.

In a letter to a leading newspaper a correspondent takes up the question of what he calls weak congressmen, meaning by this those who cater to elements whom they think can defeat or re-elect them, and consequently fail to exercise their own judgment as they should. In his letter the writer refers to an address given in New York by Senator Thomas, who spoke of the mental anguish of the congressman who wants to be re-elected as he sees the galleries filled with cliques and classes, keeping strict watch on his work and making it plain that his chance of being returned will depend largely on whether he pleases them and those they represent, or fails to meet the requirements. He also cites the cases of men who have been defeated for standing by their convictions in the face of popular clamor and reaches the conclusion that this is what every public official should do under all circumstances.

This is an old question and one that will probably never be settled to the satisfaction of all. Ours is a representative government and the theory of many, in and out of office, is that it is the duty of a representative in Congress or a state Legislature to carry out to the best of his ability the desires of his constituents as he understands them, even though in some cases this compels him to go contrary to his own judgment, while there are others who believe that a representative should never sacrifice his own judgment when he is convinced that he is right.

There are plenty of arguments to be advanced in favor of both of these views, but it is safe to say that the best results will be obtained by following a moderate course and avoiding extremes in either direction.

A member of a law making body should be very attentive to the desires and demands of his constituents, yet he is in a position to know the merits or demerits of proposed legislation better than most of them do, and for this reason there are times when it is his duty to be governed by his own judgment. Choosing between this course and yielding to clamor must necessarily be an unpleasant task, but in the long run the man who is governed by principle rather than expediency will be the winner, for he will gain and retain the approbation of the public, which should be worth more than the gaining or retention of any public position, high or low.

At this time, more than ever before, is there group action on the part of electors. It is to be regretted that this is so, but so it is. There are organizations and classes striving to place their own interests before those of the public, and it is these that fill the galleries for the purpose of encouraging or intimidating, as the case may be. At such times the wise and honest legislator will be governed by his own judgment and the dictates of his own conscience, and trust to time for vindication if vindication is necessary. Yet the right of constituents to be heard must not be overlooked, for the position of a legislator is representative and not autocratic.

The prime need in legislative halls is honesty and fearlessness. These are not a guaranty against mistakes, but the man who possesses them will command the respect of supporters and opponents alike, and in the large sense that is of more consequence than victory or defeat at the next election.

WAGE HEARING IS SUSPENDED

Washington, March 11.—Negotiations between the railroad executive committee and the union representatives on railroad labor's wage demand were suspended temporarily last night. The first session found neither side ready, and adjournment was taken after brief discussion.

The date for resumption of the conference was left to the executives' commission. It was indicated the second meeting would not be held before Friday, and might not be called until next week. Each side desired to collect "certain information," the nature of which was not disclosed, before continuing the discussion.

YEATON-SPENCE

The marriage of Miss Ella A. Spence and Elmer A. Yeaton of Manchester, the latter formerly of Portsmouth, recently occurred in the former city, the ceremony taking place at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Charles M. Goodwin, 260 Ash street. The Rev. Milford R. Fosdy performed the service in the presence of relatives and friends of the contracting parties. Miss Hazel Twombly of this city played the wedding march as the bride party entered the parlor.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe de chine and tulle veil caught with spray of white rose buds. She was attended by Mrs. Charles M. Goodwin, as matron of honor who was attired in a black lace gown over yellow silk.

Barbara Minkner, the little flower girl, wore a lovely gown of white tulle with blue ribbons and carried a basket of pansies. The best man was Charles M. Goodwin, brother-in-law of the groom.

Following the ceremony a wedding lunch was served. After a wedding trip the couple will take up their residence in Manchester.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary A. Spence of Berwick, Me., and a registered nurse. For some time she was located in Dover and of late has done private nursing in Manchester. The groom is a carpenter and was in the employ of Joseph Marden, the contractor of this city, for twenty years. He has recently located in Manchester.

The couple will reside temporarily at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin in Manchester.

REVENUE AGENT KILLS LIQUOR SNUGLER

Van Buren, Mo., March 11.—Candido Daniels of this town was shot and killed here early Wednesday by Customs Officer Vander, who caught him in the act of smuggling 30 gallons of alcohol across the Canadian border, between Frenchville and Madawaska.

Vander was on border patrol when he saw a sleigh coming from the Canadian side. He called to the driver to stop but the man whipped the horses and attempted to run the customs officer down. Vander jumped aside and as the sleigh went by managed to grasp the rear end and pull himself aboard. As he was crawling forward in the pung one of the men struck him with a canting, inflicting wounds about his head.

Vander then drew his revolver and shot his assailant. The other occupant of the sleigh jumped when Vander fired and made his escape into the woods.

A search is being conducted for Albert Morneau, also of this town, who is believed to have been his companion.

FLOODS IN COAL MINES CAUSE LOSS

(By Associated Press)

Hazleton, Pa., March 11.—Thaws flooding the lower level of anthracite mines have cut the production of coal about 20 percent in this district and many sections in the Schuylkill Field. Continuation of the present warm spell is expected to cause still more water to flow into the mines.

Mrs. J. E. Palmer, wife of Commander J. E. Palmer, has been selected as sponsor for the submarine S-9 to be launched on April 20. Miss Marion K. Payne, daughter of Captain F. T. Ames, supply officer, will do the honors at the launching of the S-10 on August 30.

Their First Winter

Many of the men attached to the ships at the local yard, hail from warm climates and are needing their first winter. They picked out a good one in 1920 which they won't forget for some time.

They Like Bowling

Many of the officers have taken to bowling and are making some excellent records as is shown by the high scores each week on the yard alleys. Captain Adams, Commander Brownell and Chaplain Charlton are among those who roll away at the regulation and candlepin.

Named for Poary

An American destroyer has been named "Poary" in honor of the late Rear Admiral Robert B. Poary, the man who discovered the North Pole. The vessel is being built at Philadelphia and will be launched soon.

KITTELY PT. MAN TELLS WHAT HIS HENS DID

George W. Blaisdell, a well known hen fancier at Kittery Point believes that Mrs. E. Lynch of Dover, Mass., has the hens that produce the egg laying record.

The Kittery Point man tells the Herald that he has 5 white Wyandottes hatched June 5, 1919 that laid 115 eggs during February. In a period of ten days they laid 50 eggs.

Mrs. Lynch's 16 hens produced 283 eggs in the same month. Next, with the hens and eggs.

THE ATLANTIC DYESTUFF PLANT NEAR COMPLETION

The Atlantic Dyestuff Company which has taken over the Shattuck dye yard, on has been detailed by The Herald, has issued a bulletin from which the following is retaken:

The site comprises about 60 acres. Additional purchases from private owners bring the acreage brought up to more than one hundred; the buildings on it consist of office buildings, warehouses, machine shops, work shops, blacksmith shop, compressor and power house with complete installation, hospital, hotel, etc.

Two complete water systems are installed on the property, one for fire protection, using salt water, and the other for service, using fresh water. More than two miles of railway track have been laid on the property and among the equipment secured by the Atlantic company are a derrick engine and a traveling crane.

Work has been started on the buildings necessary for the works the company requires, which will include units for the manufacture of the thirty odd distinct products this company is now making, complete installations for the manufacture of sulphur blue and other sulphur colors; azo and other colors, various intermediates and final specialties will be completed as soon as possible.

The company will keep its works at Burrage, Mass., going during the construction of its Portsmouth works, and as the various units at Portsmouth are put into operation, the duplicate units at Burrage will be moved there and installed as reserve equipment.

With the unequalled facilities this location affords in the way of both rail and water transportation, drainage, freedom from nuisance, etc., the Atlantic Dyestuff Company will be in position to manufacture many products which other chemical works less favorably situated cannot, for one reason or another, produce.

When this company's plant, located at Burrage, was burned early last spring, there was some question about its continuing in the dye-manufacturing business; the demands for its various products was so insistent from the mills purchasing same through its sales agents that its owners decided to rebuild, and organize their own sales force; the result is that its sales have increased many fold during the past few months. During this time the Atlantic has made many long-term contracts, some of which run for a number of years, totalling several millions of dollars for its products, and is today making substantially one-half of the sulphur black made and sold in this country, hence, also necessary for a new and larger works.

VILLA WILL NOT ILL-TREAT CAPTIVES

(By Associated Press)

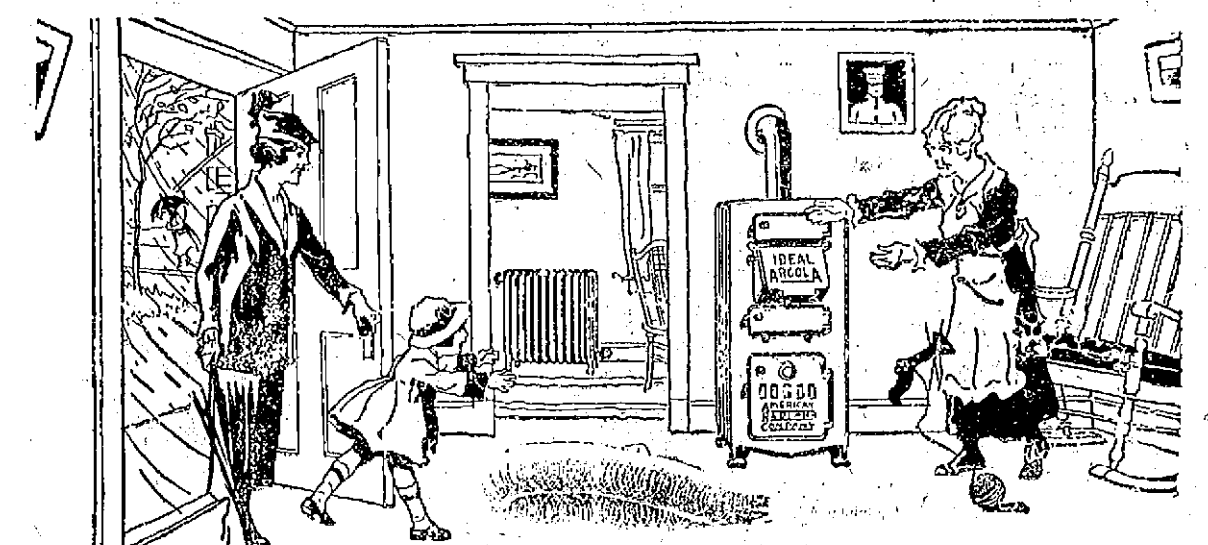

Washington, March 11.—Relative and friends of Americans kidnapped by Pancho Villa need have no concern as to their safety and may dismiss all fear that they may be held for ransom if they repose full confidence in a communication recently received at the War Department from the Mexican bandit leader. According to his note he has adopted the only practical means he can think of to get in friendly conversation with various Americans who cross his trail and while they are his "guests" they will be treated with every consideration and returned unharmed and unrobbed to their friends. Five Americans captured by the outlaw in two months have been released without the payment of ransom.

ABLE LENTEN ADDRESS

Given By Rev. Kenneth Vial
at St. John's Church.

At St. John's Church Wednesday evening an interesting address was delivered on the subject of "Death" by Rev. Kenneth Vial of Boston. The text was Isaiah 26:2, "He leadeth me beside the still waters." Father Vial said in part:

"The presence of death is the only thing that stills the activity of the present world. The symbolism of still waters, the troubled brooks con-

ing to a restless sleep, suggest death. Death is all around us, and the subject occupies the attention of everyone. There are many opinions of death, but there are three common viewpoints which are held by the majority of people. One view is that there is no immortality and that personality forever ceases in the passing from this life. Many scientists and naturalists declare there is no proof of a future life. This belief results only in unbounded gloom and sorrow upon the loss of friends, and causes an unfortunate blight on our lives for we would live miserably for today's enjoyment seeing no more tomorrow. A second view which was once largely held and still believed by many is that death brings an immediate entrance into heaven for the righteous and eternal damnation for the ungodly. This is inconsistent with the mercy or justice of God. All have sinned and death does not change our nature. We are also uncertain of the fate of our friends, knowing that God is the only judge of our lives. If this theory were true, the doctrine which has been taught by the church for centuries is that upon leaving this life, the soul enters a place of purification, which progress toward salvation is made and the joys of the kingdom are finally attained. We are in this life on probation and our decisions for the right should be made here. It is dangerous to wait for death-bed repentance; we should repent continually and keep on striving to overcome sin. We should live as if each moment were our last in this life. No one is prepared probably for entrance to the immediate presence of God upon leaving here, even after the best efforts, and a place of cleansing is necessary where the soul continues to advance after death. People are influenced in their lives by their belief in the hereafter. Sin, sickness and death are very real to us and a continual striving is necessary to overcome them."

Further Vial's subjects for succeeding lectures are the "Sacramental System of the Church," on next Wednesday evening, and the "Principles of Life" on a week from that date.

Herbert Whittemore, a traveling salesman of Haverhill, and a companion, hold the record, as far as is known here, for walking the longest distance to reach home after being marooned by the storm. He was in Rockingham, N. H., last Saturday and early Sunday morning visited the Boston & Maine station to inquire about a train. A former service man was at the station and the two men finally decided to start for Haverhill and they walked 28 miles, covering the distance in 11 hours and reaching here early in the evening. Both were exhausted by their pain, their route being over the tracks of the railroad.

SCHOONER THOUGHT LOST IN LOCAL HARBOR

The Navy has been asked to take over the reporting of all ships arriving and departing from ports where there are naval stations, and the Portsmouth Navigation Co. have been asked to co-operate with the navy in this work. A case where the daily report would have been of importance occurred last Monday when a schooner which had been at anchor in the lower harbor for two weeks cleared for Boston. This schooner had been given up for lost by the owners, and all of the time it was anchored in the cove. The captain had not bothered to call the owners. If a daily report was made on the arrivals this information would have been at hand.

JUNIOR CIRCLE PLANS
EASTER FOOD SALE

The Junior Circle of King's Daughters of the Middle Street Baptist church met on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. James Pettigrew on Pearl street. At the business meeting plans were made for the union meeting with the Golden Rule Circle on Monday evening, March 22, in the Baptist Chapel. The Junior Circle will plan the games for that occasion. Plans were also made for a food sale at Easter time. Much of the time on Monday evening was passed in sewing on the quilt which is being made by the Junior Circle for the Children's Home at Nashua, which is maintained by the King's Daughters of this state.

KITTEY PEOPLE.

I wish to thank the men who have worked on our roads this winter to work well done under very trying circumstances. I wish to give special thanks to the men, who are regularly employed elsewhere, who have given up their days of rest and have come out with the rest of us. I don't know what the town would have done without them. These are the men who will keep this town on the map. To the men who have said: "Let the town shovel us out," I would like to repeat a remark made by one of the shovelers: "Money won't clear these roads of snow, it takes shovels." Civic pride is an absolute necessity, duty to one's neighbors is a good thing to remember, and a little sprinkling of the Golden Rule helps a lot. I am afraid the worst is ahead of us, one road is already closed by ice and water and three others are in bad shape and getting worse. It is a serious proposition. Notify me of bad spots, but remember that I can only be in one place at a time, and also please remember that five minutes use of shovel will save much trouble later on. It may be necessary to establish regular patrols but I hope not. If we all work together we shall come out all right. If we do not, "the job-e-lts" will catch us if we don't watch out!

The Manchester and Portsmouth branch of the Boston and Maine railroad, was opened on Wednesday morning. The first train since Saturday morning, the train was 40 hours late into Manchester, due mainly to shifting of trains at Rockingham Junction and on the return trip at night it was 1 hour 20 minutes late. Travelers on this line are considering the plans for a petition for a sleeper at Rockingham Junction.

ASK PLUM ISLAND BE MADE A RESERVATION

In advocating before the legislative committee on harbors and waterways his bill to establish a state reservation on Plum Island, Mayor Page of Newburyport said that J. Sumner Draper and Mark Temple Dowling of Newburyport recently purchased a five-mile strip on the island and that several hundred summer cottagers will be forced to give up their summer homes and will be deprived of beach privileges if the state does not purchase the island.
Senator Emery of Newburyport, Representative Harvey of Haverhill and Representative Thomas of Gloucester favored the project. It was opposed by Robert J. Bottomley, representing Meigs, Draper and Dowling.

GIVE TEACHERS SALARY RAISE OF $250 A YEAR

The adoption of the annual City budget on Monday made available the money for the increase of the school teachers pay. The raise is retroactive to June 1 and each teacher gets a flat raise of $250 per year. The Council and the Board of Education had an understanding on the matter of the teachers raise and as soon as the budget was passed the vote of the Board of Education became effective.

The Teachers Association asked for an increase of $100 a year, but it was not considered possible with the present financial condition to grant the full amount and a compromise was reached on $250. This makes the maximum salary for grade teachers in this city $1100 a year. Manchester has a maximum for the grades of $1300. Portsmouth was practically the last city in the state to grant an increase to the teachers.

TO BUILD FENCE ON JUNKINS AVENUE

The Board of Public Works are making plans for a new fence across Jenkins avenue, to replace the broken down fence that has been an eye sore for more than a year. The Board plan to build a permanent structure, and will erect a fence similar to that about the plant of the Morley Button Company. This should in their opinion with occasional painting last a generation or more. A well laid stone wall of about three feet in height would be the ideal arrangement but the cost is prohibitive.

SEES VICTORY FOR ULSTER

Belfast, March 11.—Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, during the course of a speech yesterday, said that if the present home rule bill passed, Ulster won. They would be lucky, he added, in getting without fighting what they had coveted to fight for.

If the bill had included the whole of Ulster, said Sir Edward, they would have had to oppose it tooth and nail. Then, if it were rejected, the 1914 act would come into force, and they would have a home rule parliament in Dublin.

The Ford car can well be called the "people's car," because there are more than 3,000,000 of them in daily operation. That is about four to one of the nearest follower in the motor car industry. This would not be so if the Ford car had not for sixteen years proven its superiority in service, in durability, and in the low cost for operation and maintenance; this would not be so if the Ford car was not so easy to understand, so simple in construction that anybody and everybody can safely drive it. TOM OSBORNE TO GIVE UP COMMAND ON TUESDAY NEXT

Will Lecture in the South and Middle West for a While.

Lieut. Commander Thomas M. Osborne will retire in civil life next week and will be relieved by his successor, Commodore A. Y. Wadham, retired, on March 17. Lieut. Comdr. Osborne requested to be released as soon as possible, thus the quick appointment by the department.

Lieut. Comdr. Osborne stated today that he had made no definite plans outside of preparing for the opening of the preparatory school in Auburn in the fall.

He will go to New Orleans following his conclusion of navy duty and from there to Chicago and other cities where he will lecture. He also has several engagements in New York.

Commodore Wadham has been at the Portsmouth yard many times previous to his retirement. He was appointed from the state of New York Sept. 26, 1891 and placed on the retired list June 3, 1907. He makes his home in Wadham, N. Y., and has had many years in the training branch of the navy.

That Fred H. Brown has been elected mayor of Somersworth for the seventh time.

That the members of the income tax section of the internal revenue office are now working nights.

That three women stenographers including Miss Gladys Arnold of Nashua, N. H., have been sworn in at Camp Meade, Annapolis, as army field clerks, the first female "field clerks" known in the service. These girls are now enlisted in the army and have the same rating in salary, transportation, commutation of quarters and furlough as men.

That a husband gave his wife ten dollars to go and buy groceries and she came back with a new spring hat.

That a hobby demonstrated on the lot going for a bid and not the cat.

That he told his wife that they could not eat less.

That his wife said she could feast on it with her eyes which meant that the lid was in a way devoured.

That the Houston, Texas Chronicle had an item reading as follows: "The dead man ran forty feet before he fell, but still retained a grip on the revolver. When the detectives reached his side they found it necessary to remove the gun, which he continued to flourish while asking that they hurry the ambulance."

That that fellow was some live dead one.

That a hot argument in Ward One on Tuesday relative to a man's rights in a primary election brought out some surprises and a side bet.

That the jewelry taken from a Dover store was found in an old handbag in an attic.

That a boy coming to the jewelry store to have a crystal put in one of the golden watches, put the police wise.

THE HERALD HEARS

That the navy yard employees wish that transport would be hurried along if there is one coming.

That the kids never got the playing they desired from the flooding of the playground.

That the baseball season is badly to open in 1920 with snow and ice on the ground.

That old paper is said to be worth more for junk now than for the past year.

That with untiring doing so much trucking and carrying of passengers it is not plain where the railroad came in for increased fares.

That Portsmouth should do something better when the next lightning contest is made and brighten up the city at night.

That the H. B. club says none of the members have choked to death as yet.

That the rumor that the Boston & Maine will double track the Dover branch is going the rounds.

That the people have heard it as often as they have about the new depot for Portsmouth.

That if there was work on all the ships tied up there, the Portsmouth
